Bigumy Case. A most shocking accident occurred last evening at about 7 o'clock, which resulted in the death of Miss Lucy Hoving, who is well known throughout the state of Utah.

It appears that Miss Hoving was crossing Twenty-fifth street on Jefferson avenue reading a book, going to the home of Judge Hulaniski, where she was living. Just as she was nearing the sidewalk on Jefferson avenue she was run down by a boy named Ed Johnson, in the employ of Corey Brothers' livery stable, who was driving a horse at-tached to a single buggy with another horse tied by the side of the horse he was driving. As he reached the crossing he was driving at a fair speed and not carefully watching ahead, when suddenly one of the horses struck the lady, knocking her to the ground, and stepped on her neck, and the buggy passed over her body. Mr. Smith, an electrician, was just passing by and rushed to Miss Hoving's assistance. A number of people soon gathered and the unconscious woman was carried to the Hulaniski home, which was only a lew rods away. The family was not at home, hence she was laid on the lawn and Dr. Coulter, who happened to be friving by, came to her assistance. ediately discovered that the neck was broken, and the jugular veins were punctured, and that it would only be a hort time until death would claim the victim of the terrible accident. As the rentlemen were near the gate with her blood commenced to coze from her mouth and in about 15 minutes her spirit took its flight, and her lifeless body was taken to the morgue to be pared for. The boy who was driving the buggy was terribly frightened and irove a quarter of a block before he could realize what had happened. He returned to the scene of the accident and was overcome when he realized that the woman was dying. The affair s most sad and shocking to the ladvice.

s most sad and shocking to the lady' The boy states that he was hailed by mother boy and looked around to anwer back just as the accident hap-pened; that when he looked around he louched the riding horse which jumped lorward, and just at that moment Miss Hoving was knocked down. Johnson is about 15 year of age and has always been considered careful in driving. The deceased is one of the leading so-dalists in Utah and one of the organiz-ers of the association. She has done nuch for the organization in Utah,

IMPROVING TEMPLE GROUNDS. is an extensive gypsum bed. After the temple was finished the grounds were cleared off and made level, and the work of planting trees and shrubs was begun, says the Advocate. But it was begun, says the Advocate. But it was found that no vegetation would grow on that soil. The upper covering which had been made soft by weathering was but a few inches in depth. Below this the formation was too hard and soild for the roots to penetrate to any distance. It was found necessary to remove the gypsum to a depth of several feet and to haul on the grounds in its place a good loam. Nearly all of the place a good loam. Nearly all of the north half of the grounds have been treated in this way. Trees and flowers of nearly every variety have been planted, and now that section of the enclosure presents the picture of a vertable little garder of Education. itable little garden of Eden. DASTARDLY FIRE FIEND Attempts to Burn Theater - Light Crops - Fall from Grace. Special Correspondence.

Monroe, Sevier Co., Aug. 6.—We are sorry to record that one of our most promising young men, who was held in the highest esteem by the whole community has fallen into disrepute by stealing from one of our citizens, for which he was fined $25.

On Saturday last the commodious theater owned by Peter Christianson was found to be prepared by some one of incendiary disposition to be set on fire. One minute's start and the whole structure as well as many other ad olning buildings would undoubtedly have been reduced to ashes,

The strong odor of coal oil, which had been used to saturate the furniture, attracted attention, and caused inspection, thus detecting the fiendish plot. Guards watched the premises all night, and would likely have caught the culprit if the news had not spread It has tried to rain several times of late, but even the most propitious conditions were blown away after a very slight shower. The grasshopper war is new on in earnest and many are being caught every day. Crops are very light this year.

The dry weather and the continued heat is affecting some of our crops, especially the late fruits. We still have the grasshoppers with us and they are floing serious injury to some of our farms and orchards to the south and east of this city.

Our annual Sunday school excursion s over and there are many weary look. ing faces this morning. All passed off nicely. About 1,000 persons left this county for Salt Lake City and Saltair. Our city fathers have commenced work in earnest on our proposed light and power plant; the surveyors are busy at work and soon we may expect to see the work well under way. John P. Erdmann and party of Salt Lake City, narrowly averted a very serious injury last week while return-ing from a pleasure trip to Blacksmith Fork. A member of the party was driving and in a narrow part of the road was not careful enough and drove off an embankment about 12 feet high. A GRAND COMMONWEATH. Snake River Valley Best Watered Section in the Union.

Special Correspondence. Rexburg, Fremont Co., Idaho, Aug. 3. -Your Franklin correspondent took advantage of the excursion rates on the 23rd of July and took a trip to Snake river valley as far as Rexburg, and was astonished at the phenomenal growth of the country. The Snake River valley is a great and prosperous commonwealth. It is in the writer's opinion the best irrigated section in the United States. The great numof large canals that intersect the valley, especially from Idaho Falls to many miles beyond St. Anthony, carry an abundance of beautiful clear water to tens of thousands of acres of rich land. It is astonishing to see the great mount of grain growing all over the DEATH OF MISS COUCHER. A Serious Mishap Befalls Robert Humphreys of Menan.

Special Correspondence. Rigby, Fremont County, Idaho, Aug. 3.—Again it becomes our painful duty to record the scemingly untimely death of one of our beloved sisters, Sister Annie C. M. Coucher, who was born March 9, 1868, has just passed awey, being a little over 34 years of age. She was the daughter of Oscar and Annie C. Myler, and was reared in Clarkston, Cache county, Utah. Owing to her mother's death when Annie was a young woman the care of the younger children devolved upon her and they children devolved upon her and they have looked upon her as a mother as well as sister. About fifteen years ago, she came to Rigby and she has lived here since, endeared to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She was a teacher in the Relief So clety, first counselor in the Y. L. M. I. A., a teacher in the Sunday school, and a member of the ward choir; all of which offices she filled faithfully and creditably. She had been ill for some time, and when her brother died about five weeks ago she seemed almost overcome with grief. Hoping to recuperate she went to Clarkston and vis-ited with her relatives there, and seemed to be gaining her health and strength, but last Tuesday a telegram summoned her husband to her bedside. He hastened to her but death seized her and efforts to rescue her were in vain. On July 30, she expired, and on Saturday,the 2nd inst., her body

SERIOUS MISHAP. .

Robert Humphreys of Menan met with a serious assident the other day, says the Journal, in the east hills, where he was taking care of a band of sheep for J. M. Jolley of Rexburg. Humphreys was riding along a steep hill on horseback, and his saddle becoming loose got off to tighten the once the cinch strap gave way, and the force threw him several rods down the hill. He struck his head and arm against a log with such force as to nearly break his neck, knocking him almost senseless and causing his head to bleed freely. The fall broke his left arm above the wrist and badly bruised it at the elbow. Unfortunately he was alone with the sheep and could not t at the elbow. Unfortunately he was alone with the sheep and could not leave them, but he repaired to camp as soon as possible and fixed his inju-ries as best he could, exhibiting great nerve and presence of mind in doing so. The accident was so painful that he was unable to prepare anything to eat for himself for two days, and in this connection he had to take care of the sheep particular the sheep particular to the sheep parti the sheep until such time when the necessary help arrived. Mr. Hum-phreys came to Rexburg from the sheep camp to have his injuries attended to by Dr. Hyde.

It was the warmest week of the season, with the maximum temperature recording 90 degrees above each day in all parts of state, except the extreme northern counties, where it was somewhat cooler. A few traces of rain occurred during the early part of the week in the southern sections, but no precipitation of consequence occurred in any CROPS. Grain and Grass: The past, week marked the beginning of the threshing season. Threshing of wheat, cats and barley made a fair beginning in Nez Perces County. The yield of these crops is being reported in some sections above the average, while in other districts it is thought to reach average or below. will begin during the coming week in Ada, Canyon and Washington counties. While threshing has not become general enough to fully determine the yield, it is believed that irrigated year, which were thought to average, and the wheat, oats and barley on dry farms will exceed the vi of last year. Although there will be some shrunken grain, the heads of wheat, oats and barley filled well as a rule. Second-crop alfalfa is being cut in all sections, with the yields being reported very good, except in the dry farm sections, where the crop is light. In some sections of Cache valley and in the Lost River sections the second cutting of hay will be light and in many districts a second crop will not be harvested. Wild hay is being harvested with good results. The weather has been exceptionally favorable curing and stacking of hay and harvest of grain. Fruit: Early apples are ripening rapidly and other varieties making good growth. Apples, apricots and dewberries are abundant in the markets. Respberries are going out of season and cherries are gone. French prunes are a large crop and are not falling badly now, but Italian prunes are labeled badly and in a manner to justify the fear that the yield will range from a half to three-quarters of a crop. The runes that remain on the trees will ikely mature an excellent quality, since the trees are reported in good baring condition. Cantaloups, watermelons and tomatoes are beginning to ripen rapidiy. Pests: The second generation of the codling moth larvae are now be-ginning to enter apples. This pest is not so numerous this year as in the three previous seasons. Grasshoppers continue to destroy all crops in the Camas Prairie country, where farmers were compelled to cut hay and grain crops before maturity to save from Hay g is in fall blast with a heavy clip. Very little rain has fallen this summer, but we have had plenty of water thus far. We have had little trouble with sheep this season.

THE PROGRESS IN IRRIGATION

Special Correspondence. The progress in agriculture in the arid states and territories during the decade ending with 1899 is shown in the report just published by the Division of Agriculture of the Twelfth Census As this progress is attributed largely to irrigation, the statistics relating thereto are of general interest.

thereto are or general interest.

The number of irrigators in the United States in 1899, not including irrigators of rice, was 168,218, an increase in ten years of 59.5 per cent. The area irrigated was 7,539,545 ac an increase of 167.6 per cent. Of this area, 5.944.412 acres were in crops, and 1.595.133 acres in pasture and unmatured crops. The cost of irrigation systems in operation, exclusive of those on rice plantations was $87,770,942, while the value of the irrigated crops was $86,860,491. The total length of all the main ditches in the arid and semi-arid states and territories was 44,149 miles.

The average number of irrigated coming loose, got off to tighten the distance of irrigated disch, standing back downward. All at acres in farms in arid states and ter-irrigated land per acre, $42.53; the average value of crops produced on irrigated land, $14.81; the average first cost of water, $7.30; the average annual cost of maintenance, 38 cents. Of the 5.711.965 acres in crops, hay and forage occupied 3,665,654, or 64.2 pe cent. Cerenta, 1,399,169, or 24.0 per cent; or chard fruits, 251,289, or 4.4 per cent; other crops, 226,881, or 4.0 per cent. The value of the hay and forage was $34,-834,966; cereals, $14,338,326; vegetables, $9,627,491; orchard fruits, $8,920,409; other crops, including sub-tropical fruits grapes, flowers, plants, sugar beets, grapes, flowers, etc., $16,712,246.

In Utah the number of irrigators, ex-

1899, or 84.3 per cent, and the number of acres irrigated from 263,473 to 629,-293, or 138.8 per cent. The average val-ue of farm land per acre was $9.75, of irrigated land, $37.40. The ditches in operation in 1899 had a length of 2,838 operation in 1899 had a length of 2.838 miles, cost $5,722,306, and arrigated 624,186 acres. There were 5,177 acres irrigated from wells. The irrigated area in crops was 537,588 acres, yielding products valued at $7,462,370. The area rrigated in pasture was 91,775 acres, Shortly after sending the irrigation bill to the president. Congress passed a resolution authorizing the director of resolution authorizing the director of he census to compile statistics relating irrigation for the crop year in 1902 With the data now assembled, this work will be comparatively simple, most of it being done by correspon-dence. To assure this information in-quiries will soon be sent out to irrigators throughout the United States. The co-operation of those interested in irrigation is earnestly solicited for upon their prompt response will depend very largely the value of these statis-tics. This is in part a supplementary work, the results of which will be utilized in the work soon to be undertaken

Formerly little was known in Central New York of beans as a field crop; but as wheat began to sink lower and lower in price, and the crop yield became less and less in consequence of growing too much of it, and with too little alternation with other crops farmers began to seek other mon ey crops in place of wheat, and now at last they are pretty well settled upon beans as the most desirable money crop in lieu of wheat, which is abunand in discussing the features of their future work, and will be served with dantly shown by the fact that much more than one-half of the farmers are engaged in growing them on a considerable scale. There is a dearth of literature on beans, consequently there is others on the subject, and what I shall now write will be entirely from my own observation. Beans do best on a light, friable, sandy or gravelly soil. They are not much "at home" on a stiff clay, They are essentially a warm weather plant and should not be planted until the ground gets well warmed up, which usually occurs in the after part of June. I will describe the method adopted by probably the largest grower in this section. He will plant eighty acres this season. He will have his ground exceedingly well fitted by repeated harrowing and rolling. He will plant with a grain drill rows 28 inches apart, which gives room for cultivation, He has a fertilizer attachment to the grain drill, which he will set to distribute two hundred pounds of fertilizer to the acre. This will consist of equal parts of acid phosphate and kainite. The eighty acres will require eight tons of the mixture. I saw it mixed. These ingredients are about the cheapest fertilizers on the market. The dearest is nitrogen, but beans, being a legume, will gather of that for themselves all they will need leave a balance in the soil sufficient for the wheat which he will sow upon the ground when the beans are removed, first fitting the up-per part of the soil with a disk implement. The wheat will not need the addition of further fertility. The wheat bad will be just right—the first inches a loose, fine soil for the wheat to germinate in, and a compact soil be-neath where the wheat roots can take firm hold, and winter freezing and thawing cannot heave the plants out. This being a fine section for sheep, the growing of beans has been almost godsend for them. At first the bean pod and haulm were cast into the barnyard as a waste product, but it was soon learned that this was the most valuable coarse feed for sheep that is grown, and now it is carefully husbanded for them. Given good land and a favorable season, with proper culti-vation, the crop should make twenty-five to thirty bushels an acre, and beans usually sell for considerable over $1 a bushel. Today the price is close ground $1.50.-Dr. Galen Wilson in N. Y. Tribune Farmer.
